

ASKS NO QUARTER FROM INSURGENTS

President Taft Declares to World He Is in Fight to the Finish.

OPENING GUN FIRED

His Hamilton Speech Signal for Onslaught Which Is to Come.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Washington, D. C., August 27.—

Wills L. Moore is chief of the United States Weather Bureau, and a right good prophet he is, too. With an army of weather-makers at his command all over the country—from mountain to seaboard—he can see as far into the future, figuratively speaking, as any other man who ever undertook the job. But there are some things Wills Moore and his able corps of assistants cannot do. They cannot make political calculations and forecasts. That is left exclusively for the occupants of the White House and those who live in the political atmosphere of Washington. And what are the latter saying to-day, after President Taft's speech at Hamilton, Mass., yesterday?

Will Ask No Quarter. William Howard Taft has advertised to the world that he will hereafter ask no quarter of the insurgent Republicans either in or out of Congress. He is to use an old saying, going to let every tub stand on its own bottom, and Senator La Follette and other insurgents who made that much-discussed "unholy alliance" with the Democrats in the extra session of Congress just ended, may go to the eternal how-wows, so far as he is concerned. He will have no more of them.

Taft's Hamilton speech was a centre shot, and will do more to make him strong in the eyes of the Regular Republicans than anything else he could have done at this time. He has regained whatever strength he lost during the last few months, according to what wise politicians here say to-day, and from now on he will stand out as the only probable nominee of the Republican party when their nominating convention is held next summer.

Long since, President Taft lost all patience with Senator La Follette and those who backed him up in Congress, but for the best interest of the Republican party he held his peace until the session was ended. Then it was time to speak, and he has done so. He is fully aware of the consequences of his words uttered yesterday. He knows that within a few days he will be the target of not only La Follette, but of Cummings of Iowa, Brewster of Kansas, Bourne, of Oregon; Polinder, of Washington; Clapp, of Minnesota, and the other leading men in the insurgent camp.

Upon the strength of the fight, which was begun with yesterday's speech, undoubtedly will depend the control of the electoral vote of the great Western and Middle Western States in the next national convention. It serves also to recall the great efforts made during the last election to defeat the insurgent nominees of the party who had opposed the passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill when former Speaker Cannon, Vice-President Sherman and others strong in the Regular line-up were bent west to help beat the insurgents.

Opening Gun Fired. Democrats who have not yet left Washington, did not hesitate to-day, after they had read the Hamilton speech, to give it as their opinion that the opening gun in the next national campaign had been fired, that from now on it will be a fight to a finish in the Republican ranks with La Follette and his band of insurgents trying to keep Taft from again securing the nomination, while the Democrats, in perfect unity and harmony, will have little to do for a while, but stand quietly by and watch the death fight inside the Republican lines go on. The Democrats by their efforts in the extra session of Congress can afford to be quiescent for a time, while the Republicans are tearing their eyes out fighting each other. P. H. McG.

STILL RAISE CRY OF ANNEXATION

Canadians Fear There Is sinister Design Behind Reciprocity.

ELECTION STRUGGLE BITTER

Premiers of Various Provinces Range Themselves on Firing Line.

Ottawa, Ont., August 27.—Reports received from all parts of Canada show the intensity of the election struggle which is now under full headway, and they reflect also the position and progress of the various elements on the main issue, reciprocity between Canada and the United States.

Although the campaign comes while harvesting is at its height, conventions and political meetings are drawing audiences unparalleled for the season. It is conceded that a greater percentage of votes will be polled than ever before in Canada. Reciprocity has continued the dominant issue since Premier Laurier and Opposition Leader Borden made their initial addresses.

Meantime, the Premiers of various provinces and other leaders have been ranging themselves on the firing line. The first fight against reciprocity is made on both economic and sentimental grounds by the opposition speakers. They declare that reciprocity in the United States is so much better developed than it is in Canada that the Canadian farmer will be swamped by the arrival of food products from the United States.

The sentimental grounds raised against the return of the government is based on the speech of President Taft, in which he said that Canada had come to "the parting of the ways" as justification for having passed the reciprocity agreement through Congress.

The opposition still insists that President Taft has the annexation of Canada in view. The fight for reciprocity is based by Premier Laurier and his followers on the economic advantages which will accrue to Canada as a whole and to the various branches of the people, and they denounce the annexation cry as a hollow device of the campaign.

French-Canadian province of Quebec is regarded as the pivotal province in the election. Here Henri Bourassa, the opposition Nationalist leader, is vigorously denouncing Premier Laurier as too imperialistic. Bourassa declares that Laurier betrays Canadian independence to Great Britain by eventually leading to the creation of a navy, which eventually will lead to the description of the young men of Canada. Laurier at a meeting in St. Eustache recently declared that Mr. Bourassa was a "wild liar."

The claims of the two sides up to this date are about as follows: The opposition claims it will gain seats from the government in the maritime provinces (Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island), in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia, while the Western provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta will remain with the government, as they claim that they will increase their present large majority in the French-Canadian sections of Quebec and in the maritime provinces, and will make gains in Ontario and throughout the Western provinces.

Seven Negroes Arrested. Seven negroes, six men and one woman, were arrested early yesterday morning and taken to the Second Police Station under a charge of maintaining an objectionable establishment in the rear of 315 East Main Street.

THEIR METHODS ARE COMMENDED

Milwaukee, Wis., August 27.—The special committee of the Insurance Commissioners of the United States made public at Milwaukee August 23 a report of its investigations. In this report the business methods of a number of industrial, health and accident insurance companies were very strongly criticized by the committee which at the same time made public a list of fourteen Indiana companies whose methods it had examined. The criticisms did not, however, apply to the Great Eastern Casualty Company of New York, which was mentioned in the list of companies examined. The insurance commissioners' committee on industrial, health and accident settlements at a session in Detroit, reported that the Casualty Company had none of the tendencies found open to criticism in some of the cases examined, and concluded its report on this company as follows:

"Considered as a whole, however, the methods of this company in its acting as a policyholder are refreshingly honest, and the committee therefore cheerfully accords such company the commendation which it deserves."

The Standard Accident Insurance Company, of Detroit, and the Massachusetts Accident Company, of Boston, also, are commended by the committee, which announced also that it found nothing worthy of special criticism in the methods of adjustment of claims of the American Assurance Company, of Philadelphia, the Equitable Accident Insurance Company, of Boston, or the Federal Casualty Company, of Detroit.
